"Begum Rokeya University Scholar | Expertise in Spreadsheets and Effective Presentations"

Rangpur Division, Bangladesh

Summary

Hello! Navigating the world of academia as a student at Begum Rokeya University, Rangpur, I've developed a knack for turning raw data into compelling visual stories, especially through Spreadsheets and PowerPoint.

My education has not only provided me with theoretical knowledge but has also equipped me with practical tools to enhance the readability and impact of information. Through my projects, I've learned how to present data in a way that is both captivating and easy to understand.

From classroom assignments to group projects, my goal is always to present information in a manner that is clear, engaging, and visually appealing. By combining my academic background with my technical skills, I strive to contribute to discussions and decisions that are well-informed and data-driven.
